AUDITING COMMITTEE COM-MENDS DIRECTORS FOR CORRECTNESS.

REPORT SAYS CAREFUL CHECK-
ING FOUND EVERY DOL-LAR ACCOUNTED FOR.

Strong praise for the manner in which the Round-up directors have kept their accounts is contained in the report of the auditing committee appointed at the last stockholders' meeting and also in the report of C. K. Cranston, the accountant who was employed by the committee. Not an error was found, according to the reports, which are printed here in full: To the Stockholders Northwestern Exhibition Association, Pendleton, Oregon.

Gentlemen:—We, the auditing committee appointed to your annual meeting November 11, 1913, to audit the financial accounts of your association beg to submit the accompanying report of C. K. Cranston, expert accountant, employed to assist in the work.

In addition to his report we would state that one of our members, Mr. E. Roosevelt, personally assisted in said audit. It is with pleasure that your committee calls attention to the financial report of the different officers as read at your annual meeting. These accounts have been checked and rechecked without finding an error and we would especially compliment your board of directors on the clear, concise and highly satisfactory manner in which they have rendered their accounting.

Respectfully submitted,
A. J. McALLISTER,
H. D. GRAY,
C. E. ROOSEVELT,
Auditing Committee.
Pendleton, Oregon, November 25, 1913.

Pendleton, Ore., Nov. 25, 1913. To Auditing Committee of the Stockholders, The Northwestern Frontier Amusement Association, Pendleton, Oregon.

Sirs:—The undersigned, having been requested by your committee to make an examination of the financial records of your association, respectfully reports as follows:

With the help of one of your number, Mr. C. E. Roosevelt, I have examined and checked the treasurer's books and vouchers for the full period included between the dates November 12th, 1912, and November 8th, 1913. The first of the above dates is the date to which the last examination, made, I believe by Mr. William Mickelson, extended and the latter is the final date to which the record is extended and at which the year's work was closed and the balance sheet made. I have examined all of the debit entries in the cash book and compared them with the deposits entered in the pass books of the two depository banks and find that each and every of such entries agrees perfectly with a corresponding deposit in one of the banks. I have examined all of the credit entries in the cash book and carefully compared each of them with the cancelled vouchers and find that, with the exception of eleven entries, which are properly noted in the final reconciliation as having been presented for payment at the date of closing, every credit in the cash book is properly covered by a bonafide voucher in proper form.

I have examined all of the entries in the cash book and checked their posting into the ledger and find that every cash-book entry is properly transferred to the proper side of an account in the ledger. I have carefully added all the columns in all the books; that is to say, the cash book, the journal and the ledger, and verified the totals into the ledger and, finally, the entry of the balances from the ledger to the balance sheet and compared the cash balance as shown on the final reconciliation with the combined balances in the two depository banks, as indicated by the pass-books, and find that all of these several records balance and correspond perfectly.

In conclusion, I wish respectfully to compliment your association, through its auditing committee, on the efficient manner in which its board of directors and accounting officers have kept its financial records.

Very respectfully,
C. K. CRANSTON,
Accountant.

Suing On Note.

W. P. Willaby has commenced suit against R. K. Brady to collect $250 and interest alleged to be due on a note executed in Cambridge, Idaho, September 28, 1912. He also asks for $50 attorney fees. Peterson & Bishop are his attorneys.

Eastern Paper Boosts Pendleton.

A recent edition of the Christian Science Monitor, a newspaper printed in Boston, contains an article on Pendleton telling of the progress this city has made in a building way during the past year. The Round-up is also mentioned. The article is illustrated with a picture of the Main street bridge and a section of the business district.

"Let 'er Buck" Cigars.

Jesse B. Paul, local cigar maker, has prepared to turn out a new brand of cigars in addition to the Famous King. The new cigar will be called "Let 'er Buck" and on the boxes will be two pictures of Tillie Baldwin, one showing the famous star bulldogging a steer, the other showing Tillie making her great championship ride at the 1912 Round-up.

Gets School Immediately.

Friends of Pearl Marsh are congratulating her upon her success in passing the teachers' examinations and in getting a school immediately. Though she had never taught before she passed the examinations last December with good grades. These grades were not returned until yesterday and she was immediately given the school at Albee to succeed a man instructor. She left this morning to take up her new work.

Leaves on Eastern Trip.

Edgar W. Smith, the Pendleton boy who is agency manager for Oregon of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, will leave Portland this evening for an extended eastern trip, according to word received by local relatives. He will go first to Atlantic City to attend the annual convention of agency managers and then after a visit at the home office in New York, will visit a number of the larger cities of the east to observe the organization methods employed by the Equitable agencies.

Organize Engineering Firm.

L. D. Howland, formerly water master of Umatilla county and now assistant water superintendent for the eastern Oregon district, L. A. Reinman, present water master, and Willard Bradley of La Grande have incorporated the Interior Engineering Co., with headquarters in La Grande and will do a general engineering business. Messrs. Howland and Reinman will retain their official positions for the time being, leaving the field work for Mr. Bradley.

Spain Saddle Good as New.

The John Spain Round-up prize saddle, which was badly mutilated just after the last frontier show, now looks as good as it ever did. It is on exhibition in the display window of the Hamley store this afternoon, the repair work having been completed this morning by Louis Campbell, who was the original maker of the saddle. All of the silver that was cut off has been replaced and the cut portions of the skirt have been likewise replaced. The whole has been varnished so that the saddle is of one color. The work was done from a fund subscribed by Pendleton citizens.

Yeomen Install Officers.

Pendleton Homestead No. 1793, Brotherhood of American Yeomanry, met in the Moose hall last evening and installed new officers for the coming year and a number of new candidates were given the first degree. State Manager Bullock of Salem was present and showed stereopticon views illustrating the life of Sir Walter Scott, the order of Yeomanry being founded upon Scott's novel "Ivanhoe." The views were very interesting and instructive. The session was closed with a lunch. The local homestead has been organized for nine months and is making a rapid growth.

Two More Indictments.

Indictments were returned today against W. S. Foster, an alleged bad check artist, and a farmer by the name of Callwell, who lives near the state line and who is alleged to have moved a boundary fence. Several other indictments were returned last night and this morning but the names of the principals are withheld as they have not yet been taken into custody. The grand jury is still in session and, from present indications, will have work until the middle of next week.

Cross Bill in Equity.

Frederick Heath, who, with Lynn H. Miller, was made defendant in a suit by W. S. Woolever recently, today filed a cross bill in equity against Woolever. He alleges that the contract between himself and Miller as parties of the first part and Woolever as party of the second part, whereby property in Alaska was in reality a contract between the Cedar Creek Mining Co. and Woolever, he and Miller being but agents. He alleges further that Woolever has received about $1500 on the contract and is protected by property for any other claim he might have. It is, moreover, alleged that the contract has been altered without authority and the court is asked to cause an accounting between Woolever and the company and to relieve plaintiff from any liability. S. A. Lowell is plaintiff's attorney.
